MASS MEETING TO DISCUSS STREET PAVING URGED

Matter Discussed by Doran Street P.-T. A.; Call Session for Dec. 15

The members of the Doran street Parent-Teacher Association, of which Mrs. A. H. Brown is president, met at the school building yesterday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock, and at that time decided to call a mass meeting at the school building December 15, for the purpose of discussing the matter of the school paying one half of the cost of paving the streets around the school property.

Mrs. Waidelich acted as secretary, in the absence of Mrs. Clark Johnson. Mrs. Maranville, chairman of the banner committee, reported that a new school banner of purple and white would be purchased. It was also reported that an additional teacher would be added to the school at the beginning of the mid-year term as the result of a petition from the association which was presented to the school board by A. T. Wintersgill.

It was voted to give $1 for juvenile court work and $1.50 for the philanthropic chairman of the federation, to be used to purchase glasses for the poor children of the county. Each school is giving a similar amount.

The picture, for the room having the largest number of mothers present at the association meeting, was awarded to Mrs. Douglas' room. The picture for having the largest number of mothers present at all the meetings last year was awarded to Miss Collins' room.

The business meeting was followed by an open forum discussion on "Household Efficiency." The topics taken up were "Working by the Clock," "Where Children Help," "Step Savers." Much interest was taken in the discussion of these topics.

Tag Day Dec. 17 to Help Raise Fund for Glendale's Float

TAG DAY, Saturday, December 17, will be planned by the Tournament of Roses float fund committee at a meeting Tuesday night at the Chamber of Commerce. With a $25 contribution by the Tuesday Afternoon Club to the good cause, more subscriptions are coming in to James M. Rhoades, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who is acting treasurer of the committee. Others doing their bit toward the fund include: C. R. Snider, $5; H. E. Noble, $5; J. A. Taylor, $1, and A. Friend, $1.

Men's Bible Class to Hold Annual Banquet

The men's Bible class of the Christian church will have its annual banquet and election of officers commencing at 7 o'clock tonight in the church bungalow.

"The Possibilities of a Men's Bible Class" will be the subject of a talk by Rev. Louis Tinning, assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Rev. Clifford A. Cole, pastor of the Christian church, and Floyd Mercer, superintendent of the Sunday school, are scheduled for brief addresses, also.

The dinner will be prepared and served by the Ladies' Aid Society.

A musical program will be given during the evening. Miss Evangeline Quackenbush, 1119 East Colorado avenue, will play a violin solo; Harry Marple, 202 West Palmer street, and Mrs. Floyd Mercer, 319 North Jackson street, will both sing vocal solos.

The class, which has a membership of about fifty, is taught by C. W. Bacon, 900 South Glendale avenue.

CITY'S FLOAT FUND GIVEN MONEY BY THURSDAY CLUB

Organization Holds Business Session; Urge Passage of Towner-Sterling Bill

A business meeting of the Thursday Afternoon Club was held yesterday afternoon in the branch library building on South Brand boulevard, with Mrs. A. Becker presiding in the absence of the president, Mrs. E. V. Bacon. At that time it was voted that the club appropriate the sum of ten dollars for the "float" fund. The committee in charge of the chicken dinner, given recently by the club, reported fifty dollars having been cleared.

The Towner-Sterling bill, which is now pending and which proposes the establishment of a department of education at Washington, was discussed and it was decided that members write personal letters to the congressmen uring the passage of this bill.

Plans were discussed regarding the community Christmas tree and the ladies of the club will prepare bags to be given to the children and also arrange a program. The Southern Glendale Improvement Club will also join in this endeavor.

The members of the Thursday Afternoon Club will meet Thursday afternoon at the Hartzell studio at Laurel avenue and Brand boulevard at 2:30 o'clock, and there will be a special musical program given at that time. There were about twenty-five present at yesterday's meeting.

Reading Circle Meets; Volumes Are Reviewed

The Mutual Benefit Reading Circle met yesterday at the library building on Howard street with the usual good attendance, Mrs. A. A. Barton presiding. One of the events of the day was the arrival of the "Book of Quotations" called "Immortelles," which was very beautiful in every detail. The first page of the book is dedicated to the Reading Circle by Mrs. J. C. Danford, librarian, entitled "Mothers."

There were two reviews given yesterday, one by Mrs. Minnette Sherman on "Citizenship," and one on "Parents, and Their Constant Use of Don't for Children" (Dorothy Dix), by Mrs. Cline. Mrs. Barton also read an article on "Woman's Part in the Making of American Citizens" (Mrs. Watson).

Mrs. H. V. Henry read from the book "All the Children of All the People," the subject being that the real deficient children, the blind, deaf and dumb, should be educated in the public schools instead of at private institutions in order that afterwards they can mingle with normal children and not be a burden on the people.

Mrs. J. C. Danford, librarian, presented to the Circle her mother, Mrs. M. C. Law, and Mrs. T. N. Lake of Vandalia, Ill.

Miss Helen M. Steele Is Hostess at Party

Miss Helen M. Steele of 416 North Isabel street entertained a party of friends at her home Tuesday night. One of the features of the evening was a talk by Miss Ellen Pilquist, who is the daughter of a missionary in China, on "Chinese Customs." Miss Pilquist also exhibited a number of Chinese costumes and shoes for women and children. One of the costumes, which was very elaborately embroidered, was said to have been presented to Miss Pilquist's mother by a Chinese woman and was supposed to be over a thousand years old.

The program for the evening also included a saxophone and piano duet by Miss Bessie Falconer and Thomas Steele, readings by Miss Parker, Mrs. C. A. Brandstater and Miss Helen Steele, piano solos by Thomas Steele, Miss Bessie Falconer and Ellen Pilquist. The latter part of the evening was spent in story telling, after which refreshments were served.

Those present included Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Westphal, Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Brandstater, Mr. and Mrs. E. Dunbar, Thomas E. Steele, Mrs. T. Falconer, Miss Bessie Falconer, Miss Richards, Miss Parker, Kenneth Brandstater, Miss Ellen Pilquist and Miss Helen Steele.

Among the visitors at the Intermediate school Wednesday were Mrs. Karcher, Mrs. A. C. Murray, Mrs. A. C. Muff, Mrs. Charles H. Ambrosh, Mrs. E. T. Allen, Mrs. S. B. Colburn, Mrs. Bean. A number of teachers from the Thirty-Second Street school in Los Angeles spent the day visiting in Glendale schools.

IDA B. POTTER AND JESSE H. FLOWER ARE MARRIED

Impressive Ceremony Held in Home of Bride's Mother, 906 East Harvard

With more than 100 relatives and friends in attendance Miss Ida Belle Potter and Jesse H. Flower, both well known among Glendale's younger social set, were married last night at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Maud L. Potter of 906 East Harvard street. The ceremony, which was a quiet but impressive affair, was conducted by Rev. B. Dudley Snudden of South Pasadena, former pastor of the First Methodist church of this city.

At exactly 8:30 o'clock Miss Margaret La Spada of Pasadena, who is a lifelong friend of the bride, favored the guests with an appropriately rendered vocal solo, "I Love You," after which Rev. Snudden entered the front room, followed by the groom and his best man, Charles E. Potter. At the same time the two cutely attired flower girls, little Misses Evelyn and Eleanor Flower, approached the "bridal arch" from the adjoining room, leading the bridesmaid, Mrs. John D. Stauffacher of Los Angeles, who wore a beautiful pink silk dress.

Guests are Outwitted

The bride, dressed in an exquisitely finished white wedding gown, then appeared behind the bridesmaid, being escorted to the front room by her brother, George A. Potter, who was to give her away. Without further rites the happy couple were pronounced man and wife, Rev. Snudden using the ring ceremony.

After remaining in the house for a few minutes, during which time they were receiving the congratulations and well wishes of the guests, the lights were suddenly turned out while the newlyweds slipped through a side door and sped from their mischeivously inclined friends before their actions became known. Upon finding out that they had been outwitted the guests made a stampede for the door, only to find that it had been locked from the outside. When they finally got outdoors the fleeing couple had gotten away in an automobile, having foiled two policemen friends who were "laying for them."

The home was artistically decorated for the occasion with quantities of flowers, ferns and greenery, with the flowers, consisting of red and white carnations, interwoven with the ferns in beautifully arranged cordons. A large white arch, standing directly in front of the fireplace and forming a miniature wedding arbor, was made more attractive by the addition of similar cordons besides being surrounded by a bevy of dark green shrubs and potted plants. A "take-off" bride and groom, placed

Three Men Caught In Police Trap; Two Get Jail Sentences

Two jail sentences of fifteen days each and $50 fines for three men arrested yesterday evening while speeding along San Fernando road at 43.26 miles per hour in a flivver devoid of brakes was meted out this morning by Police Judge F. H. Lowe.

Joe Thomas and Charles Davis will languish for two weesk in the county jail, while Patrick Donohue paid the $50 for being drunk. All three were taken into custody by Deputy Sheriffs J. B. Fox and Joe Nolan, who handle the criminal investigations for the county, and their prisoners may be linked with a series of holdups for which Thomas and Davis answer descriptions.

The car which they were driving passed through the trap set by Officers Trautwein and Collins, and the latter caught them. Patrolman Herda took them to the police station where their actions created considerable suspicion. It was thought for a time by the police that they might be connected with the killing of the two Los Angeles police officers.

Missionary Society's Program Interesting

The Missionary Society of the Christian church met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Vernon Putnam, 208 West Elk avenue, with Mrs. Lay and Miss M. Burford as assisting hostesses, the "Lois Ely" division having charge of the program. "China" was the subject of study.

The program included Bible study, by Miss Burford; prayer by Mrs. Rider; violin solo by Miss Evangeline Quackenbush in Chinese costume; "Characteristics and Customs of the People," Mrs. Lay; reading by Mrs. Darling; "Those Who Represent Us in China," by Mrs. Floyd Mercer; "Echoes," by Mrs. McKey; a letter from Lois Ely, who is a missionary stationed at Luchofu, China, read by Mrs. Putnam; duet by Mrs. Mercer and Mrs. Putnam. At the close of the afternoon refreshments were served, including "Hwong Hsi Twant," "Lady Wang" and tea. There were about forty members of the society present.

J. E. Wyvell's Home Is Scene of Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Wyvill, who have recently moved into their beautiful new home at 1215 North Brand boulevard, entertained a number of local friends at an elaborately appointed five course dinner on Tuesday evening of this week. The home was artistically decorated for the occasion with numerous bouquets of vari-colored fall chrysanthemums, the largest one of which adorned the center of the dining table.

Those who took part in Mr. and Mrs. Wyvell's hospitality were Mr. and Mrs. Dan Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Parke, Miss Cora Hickman, Mrs. Adelaide M. Imler and Mrs. Sallie Campbell Braden.

IT'S NOT CRIME TO KILL FEDERAL OFFICER AS HE'S SERVING PROCESS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Attorney-General Daugherty again called to the attention of Congress today that, although it is illegal to "assault or wound" a Federal officer while he is serving a process, it is not a crime to kill an officer under the same circumstances.

This anomalous situation in the Federal code was revealed in the second paragraph of the Attorney-General's report to Congress in the following terms:

Section 140 of the criminal code should be amended, making it a crime to kill an officer of the United States in the circumstances described in that section. Under section 140 of the Federal penal code, it is a crime to assault, beat or wound an officer of the United States engaged in serving or executing a process, but there is no Federal law making it a crime to kill an officer under such circumstances. Legislation along this line is again recommended."

WESLEY H. BULLIS, PIONEER OF GLENDALE, RECALLS SCHOOL DAYS OF LONG AGO; FIGHTING AND FUN

Education 'Factories' of Today Nothing Like Those of Years Ago, He Says; Spelling Matches and 'Old Swimmin' Hole' Were Big Features

"I NEVER GOT WHALED by dad for fighting; he'd a darn sight rather have licked me for crawfishing. Kids now-a-days seem to be different. You never see 'em fighting. I suppose it's better the way it is but, gosh, in those days how we did go at it! Of course, I wouldn't fight now, but I surely used to be a holy terror—I wouldn't take nothing from nobody."

The speaker was Wesley H. Bullis, the pioneer resident of Glendale now residing at 1325 South Central avenue, who recently reminiscently discussed his childhood experiences in the "old log cabin school house" moved from Verdugo Canyon to Verdugo road near Wilson avenue, and later in the former Cerritos avenue school house.

To clinch his point about fighting, Mr. Bullis confidentially indicated a faint scar, almost entirely effaced by time, where he had caught the back of his fist on an opponent's metal suspender button in one of his whirlwind fights.

School days for Mr. Bullis began at Compton. Here he attended school for one year before his parents moved to the present site of Glendale. A few weeks ago he went down there and visited one of his schoolmates whom he had not seen for years, Lucian Stockwell, now proprietor of a meat market. Together they visited their boyhood haunts by auto, incidentally, and when they came to the "old swimmin' hole" neither could resist the temptation to "peel off" their clothes and dive in again for old time's sake.

Some Old Trees Remain

In 1880 Phlilip H. Bullis and family moved to the San Fernando valley. The family consisted of Joseph Bullis, now a supervisor in the street department at San Raphael, Miss Tessie Bullis, now deceased, and Wesley H. Bullis. Their old home was located on West Broadway near San Fernando road. This has now been moved away, but some of the old trees still remain as landmarks.

Across San Fernando road to the west and not far from the Southern Pacific tracks lived Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dunsmore, Charles, James and Myra. With them lived the school teacher, a Miss Daley. Mr. Bullis has forgotten her first name or initials or her present address.

According to an agreement, the Dunsmore family furnished one horse and an old wagon and the Bullis family furnished the other horse and the harness. After fat lunches had been packed, and the morning chores had been finished, the party started off to school about 7:30 o'clock, over a road which had been cut especially for the purpose through the brush from the home to the school. Mr. Bullis says that he can remember how angry he was when the first store building in Glendale was erected at the corner of Glendale and Wilson avenues because it was put right across their road. The boys took turns in driving.

Just 22 in Attendance

There were twenty-two in attendance at this school. Fourteen of these were Mexican boys and of the other eight, six came from the Bullis and Dunsmore families, another was Roy Lanterman and the identity of the other is unknown. Twenty-five years ago the Dunsmore family moved from the San Fernando to the Antelope valley and Mr. Bullis has not heard from them for twenty years.

"The ride took the best part of an hour," declared Mr. Bullis. "We always went early on account of the teacher. Then we did the janitor work around the school house, cut some wood and "rustled" it into the

Socialism Is Subject Of Rev. Oxnam's Talk

Socialism was the topic last night of Rev. G. Bromley Oxnam of Los Angeles at the First Methodist Church.

American socialism, which was interpreted as believing in constitutional and lawful reform, and Russian socialism, which believes in violence and force, were contrasted. Rev. Oxnam commented on the refusal of the New York legislature to admit duly elected socialists and remarked that such an attitude was a stimulation to the use of force.

"No, I am not a socialist," stated Rev. Oxnam. "I am simply trying to be a Christian and a Christian is infinitely more dangerous than a socialist."

Contractor N. Rigdon Is Building Four Houses

Contractor Nathan Rigdon, 224 West Doran street, is now building four frame dwellings veneered with hollow tile which, he insists, is the best possible building material, because it keeps the interiors warm in winter and cool in summer.

Two of these new homes are two-story structures, being erected at 209 and 215 West Doran street, on lots 60 by 200 feet, completing a solid block of attractive dwellings. Their interiors will be finished in mahogany.

The other two are bungalows at 600 North Kenwood avenue and 409 West Doran street. Mr. Rigdon is somewhat undecided as to the use of gum wood or mahogany for their interiors.

Miss Flora Bates Is Home From Her Trip

Miss Flora Bates of 638 North Kenwood street returned several days ago from a two weeks' combined business and pleasure trip to Santa Barbara. Miss Bates was formerly a resident of the Mission City, she having come here from there last year.

Miss Bates was accompanied on the return trip by Miss Alice Gross, well known Santa Barbara musician and former neighbor of Miss Bates. She spent several days visiting in this city, returning to her home yesterday.

EARLY TRAINING IN MUSIC REQUIRED BY YOUNG FOLK

Every Child Should Be Able to Read Signs; Music Courses in Elementary Work

By ELSA BRENNEMAN
Supervisor of Music, Elementary Schools

Ex-Commissioner of Education P. P. Claxton said: "After the 'three R's' music is the most practical subject in the curriculum.

To some, this is undoubtedly a startling statement, mainly because they think that music is meant only for those who have so-called talent, and that the child who seems to have no "ear" for music derives no benefit therefrom.

Theoretically, every child who possesses speech and a sense of hearing, can be taught to sing. Practically it is possible—provided that the training begins early enough and that the teacher has the proper interest and patience to train the so-called monotones and "out-of-tunes," as well as the normally musical children.

The chief reason why some children sing out of tune is because they have not learned how to hear. The training for tone deficients should begin the first days in school.

Record of Tone Deficients

During the past two years we have kept a record of all the tone deficients in the schools of Glendale and have found that the number of deficients in upper grades was much less than in the primary grades; moreover, we found that the greater number of tone deficients were children who came from schools where music was little studied. This record leads us to believe that while we can not make soloists of them all, yet, with proper training, a tone sense can be developed in all.

Every child in first six grades in the schools of Glendale is given training in singing. At the Cerritos Avenue school it is taught throughout the eight grades. At the Intermediate school music is offered as an elective as are other special subjects. At present there are five classes of girls, one of boys, and one mixed class in singing. In the regular music lessons we are striving for four results:

First—Give the child conceptions of good music.

Second—Give voice training.

Third—Give sight singing ability.

Fourth—Give power of musical interpretation.

Playing in Orchestra

Another phase of music offered is the orchestra work. The opportunity of playing in the orchestra is offered to every child in Glendale who plays an orchestral instrument well enough to read very simple music at sight. Last year there were fifteen enrolled. So far this year, twenty-four have enrolled. The three rehearsals per week consist of one for beginners, one for advanced players and one for both beginners and advanced pupils. As soon as a beginner makes sufficient progress, he is promoted into the advanced group.

Thus far we have been forced by circumstances to hold rehearsals after school hours. The disadvantages of such an arrangement are too apparent to require enumeration here, yet the progress made by the orchestra last year proved that the work is, indeed, not in vain.

It is the hope of the department that at a time not too far distant the rehearsals can be held at a more advantageous time of day and that we may have a special teacher of orchestral instruments, who will make it possible for the child of limited means to have the training to which he is entitled.

Piano Work at Home

The third phase of music encouraged in the seventh and eighth grades is the piano work done at home under private teachers. Credit is given under certain conditions, which are, briefly: (1) The private teacher must have a state certificate to teach piano; (2) the child must practice five hours per week; (3) the child must take at least one forty-minute lesson per week. The child is examined at the end of each quarter and the grade entered upon the report card with the other subjects.

Mainly, our aim is to furnish children opportunities which will enable them to become, not necessarily professional musicians, but music lovers and intelligent listeners, so that eventually America may become a music-loving nation.

With proper equipment and systematic instruction in music in its various phases, the public school is undoubtedly the strongest factor in bringing America to the point where it may hold its head high among others as a music-loving and music-producing nation.

Miss Gladys Sharpe teaches one class in music at the Intermediate school. She also acts as accompanist for assembly singing and for the glee club at public performances. Mrs. E. E. Kent has charge of all the music in the Central Avenue school.

Lanier Bartlett Says Seats Plan Not Fair

"An iniquitous decision" is the descriptive phrase given by Lanier Bartlett, 201 South Brand boulevard, to the announcement that no seats for the New Year's championship football game will be available except to those who have subscribed $50 or $100 to the Tournament of Roses Association.

"Such action is a discredit to Pasadena," according to Mr. Bartlett, "because it makes the affair a private event for the wealthy."

Wesley H. Bullis, Pioneer, Tells of Early School Days

building and got a little fire started. Yes, you're right, the Mexican boys did very little of this work.

"In the school room the Mexicans had to use English, but outside on the playground they wouldn't use a word of it. They forced us to use their lingo and we picked it up fast. I am working for the city now and have charge of some Mexican laborers. People wonder how I get along so well with them. It's very simple—I just speak their language."

George Howland, Teacher

After three years at the log cabin school house, the first Cerritos avenue school was built and Wesley Bullis went there for a couple of years under George D. Howland, its first teacher.

"Yes, it was quite a walk from home down there," admitted Mr. Bullis. "But in those days a kid could go out and walk a couple of miles or do some labor. It doesn't do to expect a child to do that now.

"Reading, writing and arithmetic was practically all there was to it. We had reading right along and no change in the program. Of course we had spelling class every afternoon."

And Mr. Bullis paused to explain how the spelling match came just before recess and that those who ranked high when recess was called at 2:40 o'clock were excused for the rest of the afternoon.

"This usually meant a trip to the swimmin' hole," declared Mr. Bullis. "This was at a bend in the river near what is now Park avenue."

In for Punishment

According to Mr. Bullis there was a tenacious idea that boys ought to go right straight home by the shortest route. So, whenever he got caught at the swimming hole he was "in" for a certain amount of punishment.

Sometimes this consisted in standing beside a post along the school yard fence for fifteen minutes of each twenty minute recess and for fifty-five minutes of each noon for a week.

Each boy in the school at the beginning of the term was given a number which corresponded to the number of a post. Mr. Bullis recalled without any difficulty the fact that his post had been No. 8. There was another "trick" to this form of discipline, for, whenever his name was called, the boy was expected to stand at attention beside his post. If he didn't do this quickly enough he received a certain number of lashes.

"I've been called out of line and trimmed several times," admitted Mr. Bullis.

"Ball and marbles were the only games that we had in those days. Volleyball and all of the other games were unknown to us. Some of the boys had to furnish the ball; nothing was furnished by the school. We used a rubber ball: we didn't know what a baseball was. We would have a spell of playing ball and then all the kids would start playing marbles. I used to be a shark at that.

Work During Vacation

"Summer vacation meant working to beat the band. The summer of 1883 my father kept track and found that I walked as far as from San Francisco to New York and return behind a horse, plowing and cultivating.

"There were just two rooms in the building," declared Mr. Bullis, speaking about the former Cerritos school. "The furnishings were very plain. It seems to me that there was a map or two behind the teacher's desk.

"I think the hours then were just about the same as now. School was called at 9 o'clock. At 10:40 we had a twenty minute recess. Noon was from 12 to 1 o'clock. At 2:40 we had another twenty minute recess, and school let out at 4 o'clock. I see the youngsters taking short recesses every little while now."

According to Mr. Bullis his father was associated with Peter Bachman and John Woolsey in the care of a 120-acre vineyard which extended from Broadway to Riverdale drive, and from Central to Pacific avenue. The agreement was that this should be cultivated for four years and then the labor should be paid for by a deed to a forty-acre plot adjoining. The work was done so well that the Bullis family was released from its bargain at the end of the fourth year.

Silk Flag and Picture Won by School's Class

When Mrs. H. L. Tepe, class mother of the B8 IV room at the Intermediate school, walked into the room Tuesday afternoon with a fine silk flag on one arm and a picture under the other, there were many exclamations of joy and delight from the children, because they had won two great victories in P.-T. A. work. It meant that they had not only registered the largest percentage of new members for the Parent-Teacher association, but had also secured the highest percentage of fathers to join the association during the past month.

A great deal of rivalry and enthusiasm is shown and continues to be more keen between the various classes. Because of the interest taken by the pupils, the class mother promised each child a Christmas surprise. That the class will do all in its power to retain these two trophies for the coming month was evidenced by the request for new membership blanks to be taken home for signatures.

In behalf of the class Mr. Alvas thanked Mrs. Tepe for her untiring efforts to help bring about the victory for the class and expressed the hope that each child would hereafter stand back of their class mother for mutual help and benefit.

BEBE DANIELS STAR IN 'SPEED GIRL' AT THE GLENDALE

Why the Press Agent? That Is Also Answered in Picture Featured on Program

All—or nearly all—the secrets of the motion-picture star's life inside the studio, as well as what she does away from the Klieglight's glare, are revealed in "The Speed Girl," in which Bebe Daniels is starring for Realart, and which opened yesterday for two days at the Glendale Theatre.

Miss Daniels brings to the part of Betty Lee, the motion-picture star heroine, even more than the usual Daniels beauty and charm. The role of the girl who developed a speed mania in her perambulator days and never outgrew it, so that she became daring "stunt artist," fits the vivacious personality of the popular Miss Daniels to perfection, and it is hard to shake off the impression that Betty Lee is really Bebe Daniels.

Maybe you've wondered how the wily press-agent works his wonders to perform, and how he is able to get so much news-print space devoted to details about such girls as Betty Lee.

Lot More to Do

When you see "plubby" Walter Hiers play the part of Soapy Taylor in this picture, you'll learn that the "publicity representative" of a rising star has a lot more to do than just hold her dog while she attends as guest of honor a luncheon given by a dozen young naval officers.

The production strikes one as the highest standard of screen comedy-drama. It was well produced by Major Maurice Campbell, under the supervision of Elmer Harris, the author. Other numbers on the same program are: Clyde Cook in the rib-tickling comedy, "The Toreador," which nearly tore the roof off last night with gales of laughter, and Pathe News with Aesop's Fables to boot.

W. D. Root Urges Bonds Be Carried For School's Site

Editor The Evening News—May I, through your columns, urge one vitally important thought respecting the coming high school election on December 29?

Partisans may stress the straw ballot on sites, but the predominant idea should be victory for the BONDS. At two elections early in 1920 bonds for more grounds and permanent buildings at the present location were defeated because of the congestion in the center of the city and the very high price of land in the business district.

Later, the tremendous growth of the high school student body compelled the bonds for the temporary bungalows. Students however, continue to flood in and overtax the accommodations; hence action of some sort is absolutely necessary.

Factions and groups may have preferences for the East Broadway or the West Doran location, but neither can be gotten, nothing can be planned for the future, unless a two-thirds vote on the bonds allows the trustees to buy one site or the other.

For the sake of a Greater Glendale, for the sake of a greater high school, and, above all, for the sake of the boys and girls of the Glendale Union High School district every voter should red-letter the date of the election, December 29, and let nothing keep him or her from voting on that day and voting "yes" on the bonds. Educationally a "no" vote is suicidal. A "no" vote should be unthinkable!

Respectfully yours,
W. D. ROOT.

Will be able to share in this initial offering of F. A. Clarke Company 8% preferred stock.

This rather unusual offering presents to the small investor an exceptional opportunity for safe investment with consistently profitable returns. This fact, coupled with the limited number of shares being offered, will not permit of any delay on the part of those who desire to invest.

Those who are not familiar with the F. A. Clarke Company will appreciate the following very brief history of the Company:

The F. A. Clarke Company is a retail concern dealing, exclusively, in Electrical Household Appliances. Starting in 1917 with one store in Los Angeles, this Company has already established an enviable record for consistent yet remarkably rapid growth—now having stores in six other Southern California towns—another Los Angeles store at Seventh and Broadway, the busiest corner in America—and has, under construction, a Central Headquarters Building which will house another store—an Electrical Service Station—the Company Garage—and the offices of the Company, and which will be the first building in the United States erected to serve Electrical Household Appliance Customers exclusively. It should be of interest to those considering the profitableness of such a business that this amazing growth has been made solely upon the earnings of the Company!

Purpose of Financing

A great portion of the F. A. Clarke Company sales are made on the Partial Payment plan. At the present time the financing of these deferred payments is being handled through an Eastern Financing Corporation at considerable expense to the F. A. Clarke Company. The Company now proposes to finance its own deferred payments, and, to make this possible, is offering $110,000 worth of 8% preferred stock. This stock is being offered at $95.00 per share—par value $100.00. With each share of preferred stock one-half share of common stock will be given. Purchased at $95.00 per share, this preferred stock will yield nearly 8½%!

directly under the arch on the mantel piece, completed the decorations.

Last night's wedding was the culmination of a romance which began several years ago, during which time the friends of both of the contracting parties have predicted matrimony on several occasions. Both of the young people claim a wide circle of friends in this and surrounding cities, all of whom are wishing them well wishes for the future.

The bride has been a resident of Glendale for the past ten years, during which time she has attended both the intermediate and the high schools of this city. She graduated from the latter named institution in June, 1917, since when she has been employed by a large Los Angeles concern.

Mr. Flower is also a comparatively "old timer" in this city, having come here about twelve years ago. After graduating from a local school nine years ago he at once connected himself with the Cornwell and Kelty hardware company of this city, where he is still employed. He was a noncommissioned officer in the army during the war and is the present treasurer of the Glendale Post of the American Legion. He is also a member of the local Elks' and Masonic lodges.

Following a brief honeymoon trip, the duration and destination of which is not known even by their closest acquaintances, Mr. and Mrs. Flower will be at home to their friends at their new home on East Maple street.

GLENDALE WELFARE COUNCIL TO GIVE HOLIDAY CHEER

Organization Is Making Plans for Christmas; Donations Are Being Received

Mrs. E. D. Yard, chairman of the Glendale Welfare Council, states that that organization receives many inquiries, especially from the newcomers to Glendale, regarding the poor people of this city and in what manner to proceed with donations for charity use.

The Glendale Welfare Council is made up of representatives from the churches and different organizations of Glendale doing welfare work in this city and is an auxiliary of the Glendale Welfare Bureau. It was organized for the purpose of centralizing the charity work under competent directors and in that way avoiding duplication of effort, she states.

As the holiday season approaches the needs and demands on the Glendale Welfare Council are greater. The following members of the board of directors of the council met for a business session at the city hall last Tuesday night:

Mrs. E. D. Yard, president; Mrs. L. W. Sinclair, treasurer; Mrs. R. C. Horner, secretary; Mrs. C. S. Archer, director. C. E. Kimlin, vice-president, was unable to be present. After the reading and approval of the secretary's and treasurer's reports a general discussion of the Christmas work followed.

Widows Being Helped

Mrs. E. D. Yard, president, states that there are at present twenty-nine families being helped by this organization weekly, without publicity as to names, and of this number nineteen are widows. Following is the report of the work done during the month of November:

Visits to different families, twenty-eight; interviews at city hall, twelve; employment secured for five; families assisted during month, twelve; city orders for groceries, $5.58; 490 articles of clothing, valued at $250; five comforts and two pillows, new, valued at $29; furniture, including a cot, two rockers, mattress, table and stove; nine checks for relief, amounting to $47; twenty-five jars of canned fruit.

Express Appreciation

Donations received during the month included four comforts, sheets, pillow cases, an abundant supply of clothing, furniture and money, for which thanks are due the churches, clubs, Parent-Teacher Federation, Union High school pupils, intermediate school pupils, P. E. O. chapters, Masonic organizations and people making private donations.

Anyone knowing of families needing Christmas cheer is asked to notify Mrs. L. W. Sinclair at the city hall or Mrs. E. D. Yard at Glendale 510-J. If either of these two parties are notified they will call for anything in the way of donations of clothing, furniture or otherwise and will place the supplies where they will do the most good.

Two other high class acts of unusual merit will complete the vaudeville portion of the program and the photoplay will be "The Great Adventure" in which Lionel Barrymore is starred.

SOME REASONS WHY SPANISH IS ONE OF LANGUAGES

Number of Points Made for Including It in Course at Glendale Schools

By EDITH TYLER

There is a great demand for Spanish these days. Adults as well as children are crowding our classes. There are at least three reasons for this: The commercial, the cultural and the international value of Spanish to them.

The commercial value draws nearly all the students to our classes in this language. Every one knows of the great store house in South America and in Mexico of materials we need; but few know of the advancement of South American countries of late years; of the many great cities; of their advancement in education, in manufacturing, in all lines in fact.

Many have begun to study this language for commercial reasons, thinking it an easy language to acquire, but have given it up when they found it has a very large vocabulary and so many idioms that it requires a long, intensive study to master it.

But the few who have taken Spanish as a cultural subject have found such stores of wealth that they are determined to delve deep down into these riches.

Rich Mine of Ballads

One of the greatest tales ever written in the world is Don Quixote, by a Spaniard of long ago——Cervantes.

"The most prolific writer of clever dramas is a Spaniard named Lope. He created the national drama of Spain, writing some eighteen hundred dramas, four hundred and seventy of them surviving."

In epic poetry the poem "Cid" is one of the three great epics of the world.

The Spanish language has the richest mine of ballads in the world.

William Dean Howells says: "Take the Spanish and you have first class modern fiction, easily surpassing the fiction of any other people in our time."

As to its international value we need but to know something of the history of the republics of South America to see how closely allied we are. They, too, had a revolution to gain their freedom from a European mother, and they had a longer and harder struggle than we. To know what they endured would warm our hearts toward them. We have the same love for America and the same pride in being Americans as they have.

Makes Study Interesting

Modern methods of teaching a language make such a study very interesting. I will mention a few ways of bringing the language to a class in a manner that makes a more lasting impression on the mind, making it easier to learn a language than by the old methods.

We give words in series, beginning with objects near at hand and using the article itself for explanation and so avoiding English conversation: for we use as little English as possible in class.

For instance we are giving a lesson on the garden. We give the new words with the vegetable itself. Then a review is given later, by means of a garden poster. Later another review is given by playing store with fruits and vegetables for sale.

Action in recitation may be given by using commands which they have memorized, as: "Close the door; put your pencil on the desk, etc."

Games also furnish excellent reviews as well as pleasure and action for the class.

Helps to Read Aloud

Reading aloud at home trains the ear and is recommended to pupils of a foreign language. Excellent training for the ear is gained by having Spanish dictation in class and practice in spelling is given at the same time.

We find stories within a child's comprehension to read to them.

Conversation in Spanish always interests a class and we use games to help them to talk naturally.

When a lesson permits we have groups dramatize different parts of the lesson.

The above statement is just to give you some idea of the ways of keeping up interest and helping the children do the work without feeling it is drudgery as well as fixing new words in the mind by natural methods. Come, see how it works.

Practical and Cultural Value Obtained With Latin

By FRANCES E. JACKSON

Latin as taught in the Intermediate school has both a practical and a cultural value. In fact, so valuable do the children regard the language that they deny that it is a "dead language," but class it among those most alive.

At this age the memory work involved is exceedingly easy for the child, and very soon he has a large vocabulary which is a valuable aid to both his English vocabulary and spelling, since more than half our words are derived from Latin and the spelling is often similar or else unchanged. In the study of English a child is especially aided by his study of Latin grammar and his English compositions soon show great improvement in the construction of his sentences. The compositions also show a much larger vocabulary and a greater variety of expression. By this study as almost no other does a child receive mental discipline, for he is compelled to learn to think accurately and quickly.

Aside from helping the children with their daily work, Latin, being the foundation of the languages of Western Europe, is a decided help to those who may later take up the study of other languages. Many take the work offered here so that they may more easily take up the study of another foreign language, and they find that they have already learned to think in a language other than their own.

Moreover, the children are given full credit, when they reach the High School, for the work covered during their course at the Intermediate school, and are placed in the advanced classes there.

Then, again, the cultural side of this subject must not be overlooked, for a keen insight into amusements, customs, beliefs, ideals, literature, and history of the Romans is gained in such a way that the student becomes more appreciative of the Romans' contributions to us and he forms a close friendship with the people who become living characters for him.

Passion Play to Be Staged Again in 1922

OBERAMMERGAU, Bavaria, Dec. 8.—The work of choosing the cast for the Passion Play, the great religious spectacle which was last produced in 1910, has begun. The members of the choir and the orchestra are already rehearsing. The first performance will be held in May, 1922.

George Lang, eldest son of the village sacristan, who played the part of Annas in 1910, is directing the spectacle. Anton Lang, George's elder brother, took the leading part in 1900 and 1910, and it is believed he will again assume the role of Christus. There will be a new Mary, as Ottile Zwink, who last played the part, has married, and only single women are given parts in the play.

The village has to spend 3,000,000 marks on preparation, and every member has staked his savings. The vow made in 1633 that a Passion Play should be presented once every ten years will be respected. If the world comes to Oberammergau the populace will be repaid, otherwise it will be ruined.

Suggestions Given on How to Make the Highways Safe

BY CLEO WHITLEY
B-Seventh Intermediate school

Many accidents could be avoided by making a different kind of automobile that could not be forced to go over the speed limit. When the car would be going at the rate of thirty-five miles an hour or any other speed limit and the automobile was made to go the same speed then when the driver wanted to go a little faster the engine would suddenly stop and would not go until started again.

Many times when you are on the highway it crosses another road and on some of the corners there are trees or buildings that are close to the road. When there is such a place it is impossible to see another automobile and many times they crash together.

If these places were clear with no buildings or trees fewer accidents would occur.

In these ways many people's lives could be saved and lower the death record to 1000 lives instead of 10,000 lives a year, which would be much better.

Mr. Reddy Fox Loses His Very Nice Christmas Dinner

By TAKEO HIRASHIMA
Broadway School

One morning just before Christmas Mother Goose and her seven little children went swimming. But Miss Saucy Pert did not want to go swimming. So she decided to run away.

As she was about a block away she met a fox. In great surprise she held up her wings.

As Reddy Fox was about to pounce upon Miss Saucy Pert Sandy the big Collie came to rescue her. Miss Saucy Pert said, "Please take me home, I wanted to go home but I didn't know the way."

"Well! Well! What on earth are you doing here you little rascal!" said Sandy. "I'll take you home but don't you ever run away again!"

Mr. Reddy Fox lost his Christmas dinner and how angry he was!

Miss Saucy Pert had a good scolding and was put to bed without any supper.

Largest Wireless Station in World Being Prepared

By BILL PHILIPS

Germany brags of her wireless station at Nauen, which is so big that picking up its signals has become the favorite indoor sport of the American Radio amateurs.

The French speak in loud, proud accents of their Lafayette station at Bordeaux that was built by American service men. Its signals come into America three times as strong as those of the Nauen station.

But there will be a station at Rocky Point, Long Island, which will be able to talk to the whole world at once, any time, night or day. Sunlight interferes with radio waves and the sending range of many stations is only one-half as great in the daytime as in the night, but this station will be heard regardless of light conditions. The receiving apparatus will be as sensitive as the sending apparatus is strong, so that the world at large may talk back and be sure of being heard. "Static," the greatest hindrance to the reception of wireless signals, has been overcome by Roy A. Weagant, one of the company's experts.

If you want to get your mother or your sister jealous, just tell them that this new wireless station will be able to talk at the rate of 500 words a minute. With all five of its antennae systems working at maximum speed of its automatic transmitting apparatus, this station can put across three thousand per minute, twenty-four hours a day. By the liberal use of your lead pencil and higher mathematics, you will discover that this figures up 4,320,000 words per day. At rates varying from eighteen to twenty cents per word this station is going to earn some good American dollars to reward its builders.

High speed transmission will not only increase enormously the capacity of this radio station, but also insure the secrecy of messages handled. The best operators cannot receive at a speed exceeding thirty to forty words per minute. When messages come shooting in at the rate of one hundred to six hundred words per minute no one on earth can catch them without an automatic device adapted to the purpose.

The Hoxie machine is just such a device. The principle of the Hoxie machine is a mirror suspended near an electro-magnet which, when charged with current, flutters the mirror so that the light rests on a designated spot one second for a dot and three seconds for a dash, the light is allowed to shine through a small slit only and a film is running below this slit and it photographs the dots and dashes. The strip then runs through developing devices. It then comes out into a basket just like the tape in a stock broker's office. You have seen that work in the movies.

A trained typist can transcribe this into plain English faster than he could transcribe short-hand notes, from fifty to one hundred words per minute.

The antennae system is arranged like the spokes of a wheel; it has twelve rows and six towers 400 feet high to the row. The whole antennae system covers an area of ten square acres.

Destruction of German Aircraft Is Told by Pupil

By ELSIE CHANCE
B-Fifth, Central School

I was in Europe in the war time. One night my mother and I were going to my grandmother's house. We got the bus and were going to turn the corner when the window of a hotel all fell out.

My mother and I thought it was the Germans in London. We heard afterward it was an explosion.

Another night we were in bed we heard the guns. We got out of bed and got dressed. Mother knew it was the German zeppelin. When the firing had stopped we heard a lot of shouting. We went out and saw a thing like a silver cigar. It was all on fire. Then it fell down about a hundred miles away.

Visit to Volcano Told by Central School Pupil

By MARGARET THOMPSON
A-Sixth, Central School

The volcano I visited was Kilauea on the Island of Hawaii.

We went up winding beautiful roads through a dense forest or jungle most of the way. After a long ride we stopped at an extinct crater. It had been dead for many, many years. Its sides were covered with ferns. At the bottom goats were walking and they looked the size of flies.

We went into a cave that the lava had once flowed through. As the caves were very dark we used lanterns to see by.

After a while we came to the pit as they call the active part and saw it by day and by night. It is a wonderful and awful sight. It sounds like the waves dashing on the shore, and looks like a lake of fire. It was so hot we had to make pasteboard masks with just two eyeholes in it to be able to look at the fire.

The wind would blow off the hot lava and cover us with what was called Pele's hair. It is lava blown as fine as hair and is really spun glass and it hurts when it sticks into you.

There are red-hot cracks all around the crater. Tourists take their postcards and scorch the edges over cracks as a souvenir of the volcano. Another favorite souvenir is to slip a coin in a split stick and dip it into the moulten lava. It comes up with a thick coating of black lava.

There is nothing quite so nice as to boil your coffee and eggs over the hot cracks on a cold night.

Above this crater away up on the side of the mountain of Mauna Loa is another active volcano. When this is active the lava flows down to the sea. At night it looks like a red river of fire flowing down. Before flowing over the edge it pitches over a bluff about two hundred feet high.

The sea at this point looks as if it were boiling and the water is quite hot, for quite a distance out.

One finds cooked or scalded dead fish on the top of the water.

Few men ever live long enough to discover why their neighbors dislike them.

It takes a wise woman to transform a "good fellow" into a model husband.

MUSIC HAS ALWAYS TAKEN IMPORTANT PLACE IN LIFE

Public School Pupils Given an Opportunity to Receive Valuable Instruction

By DORA L. GIBSON

The object of the public schools of America is to develop good citizens.

A good citizen may follow his particular bent and function as a useful member of society in whatever place this interest leads him.

No subject that is taught is valuable except as it is related to life.

Music has always played an important part in the life of all nations, and is recognized as a human need.

The time has come when every public school pupil may receive some conception of this subject as a fine and beautiful essential in a well-rounded state of existence.

The music courses offered in Glendale high school are shaped to meet the desires and aspirations of its students in the social relations, and to furnish a foundation for a vocation.

To this end all talent, individual or in groups, is recognized and encouraged and especial effort is made to link the musical activities of the school with those of the home and the community.

The work is accredited to the universities of the state, in which institutions many students from Glendale high school are to be found preparing themselves for their chosen career in some branch of the musical profession.

These Are Courses

The study courses offered are sight-reading, appreciation, history of music, harmony, voice and piano; the organizations are the girls' and boys' glee clubs, orchestra, instrumental trio, and a general chorus. Credit, also, is allowed for outside instruction under private teachers.

Sight-reading is the fundamental study course. It is valuable to the instrumental as well as to the vocal student.

The aim is a working knowledge of the essential facts of musical theory which underlie the foundation of science upon which music as an art must rest; recognition of relations and dependencies of tones and tonal groups that give music its strength and interest; pleasure in good music through understanding its construction and its relation to national life, and a vision of the art in a big sense.

Musical history and appreciation are studied as the relation of cause and effect in observing the close connection of music with human experiences and achievements, and through it the reflection of whatever forces influenced the social, political, or religious elements of the world during the period under consideration.

Requires Concentration

A two-years' course is offered in harmony. All effort, from the beginning, is directed toward making this creative work. Pupils are taught to hear, think, and write music, and to learn by doing; to apply their knowledge of principles by using them in simple, original compositions. This course requires utmost accuracy and intense concentration.

Piano classes present another branch of intensive training.

Class work is a stimulus to good work. Playing before one another puts pupils on their mettle, and observing the work of others leads one to more closely scrutinize his own efforts.

The same lesson in technic and theory is given the class, and studies and pieces used for interpretation are selected to suit the individual.

Classes in voice and diction afford an opportunity for self-expression through the greatest of all instruments, the human voice. Especial effort is made to establish correct habits of breathing and voice production, good intonation, enunciation, and the interpretation of a song as a message.

Enter Into School Life

The glee clubs and orchestra enter largely into the life of the school. They are subject to call whenever they are needed in school activities and bring much enthusiasm into the performance of their alloted parts.

The instrumental trio consisting of two violins and piano or harp admits of the study and performance of selections requiring a fine degree of balance of tone and general finish. This group of players is in demand on many occasions.

The general chorus sings in the auditorium twice a week. Here community and school spirit are fostered through many voicing a common sentiment.

To establish a standard for true musical excellence artist recitals are given before the student body for a nominal price of admission. Pupils are urged to attend the many excellent concerts in Los Angeles.

Forty-seven high school students hold season tickets to the series of school concerts given by the Philharmonic orchestra. Double that number would have availed themselves of this opportunity to hear the world's greatest music played in a magnificent way, if tickets could have been procured.

The activities listed above represent tremendous enthusiasm and help many a young person to express himself and to find himself. All honor to a school with the broad vision that encourages the bringing of so many opportunities into the lives of those whose destinies it helps to mould.

COURSES AT NIGHT SCHOOL ATTRACT OVER 400 NOW

This Is First Year Plan Is Put Into Effect and It Is Instant Success

By A. L. FERGUSON
Vice-Principal, High School

A local innovation in educational lines was inaugurated this year in opening the High School to evening classes. It has been the feeling for some time past that the Evening High School would be appreciated by the community, but not until its actual opening was the great demand for it fully realized. Over 400 are enrolled at the present time in evening courses and more are enrolling each week. This work most nearly approaches the ideal in educational lines for it is open to all students, young or old, and appeals to all classes regardless of their previous educational advantages.

This appeal is best illustrated by the types of students enrolled at the present time. There are students taking courses who have been unable to attend high school, some who have had to drop high school work, others who in their more mature years realize the necessity of further study, men and women in business who feel that they can increase their earning capacity by specializing in some particular line as well as teachers and university graduates. This is truly a cosmopolitan group.

Keen Interest Shown

In view of the fact that the number of courses offered this year is limited by financial conditions there is a very remarkable situation. The keen interest is evidenced by the fact that no course which was started has been dropped, but on the contrary, additional courses have been provided for.

The courses group themselves under the general classifications of Mechanical, Commercial, Spanish, Millinery and Sewing and Gymnasium.

The Mechanical courses offered are Mechanical and Architectural Drawing, Machine Shop, Autoshop, and Carpentry and Mill Cabinet work. Any one who visits these departments will be impressed with the number of earnest workers who are taking advantage of these courses. The department as a whole has excellent equipment and the instructors are exceptionally well prepared to teach their special lines of work.

The Commercial courses offered are Business English, Practical Mathematics, Book-keeping, Penmanship, Shorthand and Typewriting. All of these courses are well filled and additional students are entering constantly, for the practical value of this work is appreciated by men and women who are actively engaged in business or are preparing to take up active business work.

Beginning and Advanced courses in Spanish are offered under an excellent instructor and the classes are enthusiastic. Millinery has proved so popular that it was necessary to form two classes and postpone the sewing until a later date. Concrete results in the way of practical and fancy headgear has been the result of this course.

Gymnasium work for men has been popular from the first. Two nights each week is given over to the younger men who are interested in basketball and other strenuous games. Tuesday and Thursday evenings is set aside for business men and it is a genuine pleasure to see the interest and enthusiasm they take in this opportunity to exercise and play. More of the business men should take advantage of this work. The business women were not to be outdone by the men and a class of over fifty report to the Girls' Gymnasium every Tuesday evening. This work has only recently been started, but its success is assured.

The Evening High School in this short period of time has become an institution and will continue to grow in numbers as well as variety of courses. The experiment has proved to be a success and it is hoped that more and more will share in the advantages it offers.

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream.—Advertisement.

ENLISTED YOUTH IS HEIR

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 8.—Otte LaFarra, private, company A, second engineers, camp Travis, has just been notified that he is one of the two heirs to $500,000 left by the famous old showman, Bruce LaFarra, who died in California. The other heir is Otto's sister, Mary.

Being an heir to a fortune is fine, said LaFarra, but trying to get out of Uncle Sam's army in order to enjoy it, is a different matter. His commanding officer says there is nothing doing, so LaFarra must finish his eighteen months' enlistment at $30 per month before he can fully enjoy the inherited wealth. In the meantime, his sister has gone to Hollywood, California, to look over the inheritance and complete legal arrangements.

FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER

GREAT BEND, Kan., Dec. 8.—After deliberating nearly five hours, the jury in the murder trial of Dr. W. A. Nixon returned into court with a verdict of guilty in the first degree. Nixon was tried for slaying Arthur C. Banta, prominent attorney, at a lonely spot outside this city on the night of July 6 last.

EQUALIZATION TAX BURDEN PLEA OF TREASURY HEAD

Secretary Mellon Reports to Congress; Says Economy Measures Necessary

By W. H. ATKINS
Written for International News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 8.—The government must make a further slash in existing income and surtax and adopt some form of sales tax which will equalize the tax burden, lighten the load of the average taxpayer and help business go ahead, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon told congress in his annual report.

Secretary Mellon said that while economy measures of the administration had effected a cut of $1,500,000,00 0in treasury expenditures during the current fiscal year, the American people cannot escape facing heavy government expenditures for many years to come.

Theer is urgent need that the tax laws be greatly simplified, and some of the existing complexities removed, Mellon said. The income tax must be retained for years to come, as a part of the American system, but the objections raised to the excessively high rates must be met by congress by legislative action, scaling down the rates to a reasonable level, especially in the surtaxes, which now discourage business, he added.

Congress Must Wield Axe

The taxation of people in proportion to their "ability to pay" is the keynote of Mellon's proposals to congress. Mellon, taking full account of the $800,000,000 reduction in the tax burden, in the fiscal year 1923, from the changes made in the revenue act of this year, asserts congress must wield the axe again and said before the job is completed, other sources than those now tapped as revenue producers, must be found.

The sales tax is favored by Secretary Mellon. What form it shall take, is left by him for congress to determine. He refrained from specific recommendations on that point.

It is the view of the secretary that by retaining the income tax, with reasonable surtax rates, which in peace times ultimately should not rise above 10 per cent, the American people would be contributing to the upkeep of the government, according to their earnings. But he goes further, saying:

Without Evil Effects

"By placing a certain amount of tax on specific articles, or classes of articles or transactions, at so low a rate that they could be readily borne without injury, the income tax would be materially simplified, the tax laws would be more readily administered and at the same time the needed revenues would be raised without the evil effects now resulting from the present excessive rates of taxation."

Mr. Mellon's opinion is that if congress should cut the surtax rates to a minimum of 20 or 25 per cent, it would involve only a temporary loss in government revenue, for he is satisfied the reduced rates would be productive of more revenue than the higher rates, due to the income in taxable transactions.

Excessive tax rates have driven driven $10,000,000,000 of the people's wealth into tax-exempt securities, Mr. Mellon said.

Government expenditures will continue extraordinarily high for many years, Mr. Mellon said, when comparison is made with pre-war tax obligations.

No undue disturbance to business will occur from the great refunding operations to be conducted by the United States treasury, in connection with the short-dated debt of the government, Secretary Mellon informed congress.

Huge Sum to Mature

He said there will mature within the next eighteen months $6,750,000,000 of the short-dated debt. This includes the Victory loan, outstanding treasury certificates of indebtedness and war saving securities.

The actual maturity of such a huge sum, Secretary Mellon told congress, still dominates the government's financial position. He said it renders imperative a policy of the utmost economy on the part of the government.

The government, in order to refund the debt without unfavorable effect on business or the government itself, must avoid new undertakings that would throw additional burdens on the treasury and might embarrass the refunding operations.

Secretary Mellon reviewed the work of the treasury and referred particularly to the success thus far of refunding operations. He said the treasury already had been able to bring about a better distribution of the early maturity of the debt, and that this fact should greatly facilitate the refunding operations incident to the maturity of the Victory loan.

Crowding County Jail
Economic Problem Not Met
War Disturbed Workers
Education Week Thought

By Gil A. Cowan

MEN who are honestly seeking work are crowding the county jail, according to a report of Sheriff W. B. Traeger's speech before the Tuesday Afternoon club here.

Now, either the sheriff of Los Angeles county has misspoken himself or society is doing a great injustice on these men with honest intention. Surely they are not in jail for vagrancy only.

Further, how many men who go into a jail come out with good intentions. The revolting idea of the bastile, its corridors crowded with the scum of the earth, its apparent filth and low moral tone is enough to make a criminal of an honest man.

If Sheriff Traeger is correctly quoted, Los Angeles county owes it to society to provide a farm or ranch or road work or something where the honestly unemployed may earn a living. The city of Los Angeles already has done this with their municipal farm in Griffith park.

At this very farm today there is a short story writer, an expert in mechanical lines, several farmers and a half hundred others whose ability to get along in the world alone has been proven temporarily insufficient. By kindly administration they are learning how to overcome their weakness, principal of which is a lure for the White Lights.

Without impugning the integrity of agricultural vocation, you Glendale people who have come from the farms will recollect the many simple-minded, ordinary hired hands. They were good-hearted and followed the furrows faithfully, but what would they do if placed in the vortex of humanity in a big city?

Like sensible people they would endeavor to escape. And when they do go out and find no work on the farms or in the country they are swept back to the larger towns like the waves of the ocean. No escape is offered, it seems, and this class (many of whom were born in the city), provide an economic problem which is not met.

The war was the disturbing influence which unrooted many of these otherwise safely "set" workers. Drafted, marched away, thrown on their own resources, in some instances wounded or sickened, they are back "somewhere in America" chasing rainbows that were colored by their brainier buddies' stories of success.

When the fellow working for $40 a month bunked with the man making $40 a week there was bound to be a reaction. The former thought he was being cheated. When the $40 a week man met up with others whose incomes were $400 a week—well, he knew he was being cheated.

Yet it is very probable that the man at $40 a month will be worth more at the end of 40 years than the one whose income is $400 a week. True, he has the pleasure of spending the latter amount, but it is a lot of trouble. All of which reveals there are compensations in everything.

Seems as though one Mr. Emerson wrote an essay on compensation. It might be worth the reading by any dissatisfied being in Glendale.

Educationally speaking, Glendale must rank at the head of the nation if the columns of The Glendale Evening News this week are any criterion. More lines of news space are devoted to the subject of schools here than in any other city coming to our attention.

A casual editorial in the metropolitan papers, a couple of columns in the eastern publications—that is all the schools get. Maybe the institutions in Glendale merit more. We never thought of that? Have you?

'Camille' Will Be Presented for Last Times at T. D. & L.

All who sat spellbound yesterday at the T. D. L. Theatre, where "Camille," the screen adaptation from the famous play of Dumas, the younger, was shown, left with the realization that they had witnessed one of the most astonishing pictures ever filmed, and had been privileged to enjoy the beautiful acting of Nazimova.

Much interest was awakened by the announcement of the picture; needless to say, it was sustained throughout the performance.

"Camille" is one of the great love stories of the world. Its story is of a woman of the shady side of Paris, and her love for Armand Duval, a young law student, a love which transports her to heights of sacrifice and plunges her finally to poverty and death.

Ray C. Smallwood directed this Metro picture which will be shown again tonight for the last times.

BANK IN IDAHO IS CLOSED

BUHL, Idaho, Dec. 8.—The Citizens State bank failed to open its doors here, following the decision of the directors to take such action as a measure of protection to the depositors. Poor collections and delayed liquidation made this protective measure necessary, according to Cashier R. W. Allred. The bank is capitalized at $100,000. The president is J. W. Hayward of Clinton, Iowa.

ANNUAL BAZAAR OF TUESDAY CLUB IS LARGE SUCCESS

Various Booths Popular With Buying Public; Committees Deserving of Praise

Everything from dolls, doilies, doughnuts, cooked foods, aprons, handkerchiefs, candies and fancy work of all kinds were most attractively arranged to inveigle the dollars and other coins from the pockets of those who attended the bazaar given at Masonic Temple yesterday under the auspices of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, of which Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson is president, the slogan for the day being "Bricks for the Clubhouse," and from the brisk buying, the proceeds from the bazaar will build a substantial wall of bricks for the new clubhouse soon to be built by that organization.

At noon a very appetizing lunch was served. Another interesting feature was the fortune telling booth. The parcel post and goose booths, which carried out the grab-bag ideas, were also very popular.

In Charge of Booths

Those who were in charge of the various booths, which had been decorated with red and green crepe paper festoons, suggestive of the Christmas season, included the following:

Aprons and Holders—Literary and Legislative sections and Calling committee, Mrs. F. L. Hollingsworth, Mrs. Annie Williams, Mrs. Stephen Packer.

Handkerchiefs—Parliamentary section, Patriotic committee, Mrs. Harry Greenwalt, Miss Ida Meyers.

Dolls—Drama and Arts Craft section, Mrs. Ray Galvin, Mrs. John Dunn, Mrs. R. W. Meeker.

Cooked Foods—Courtesy and Civics committee, Mrs. Charles Temple, Mrs. C. E. Norton.

Lunch—Hospitality and Local Relief committee, Mrs. L. W. Sinclair, Mrs. C. S. Archer.

Parcel Post Packages — Shakespeare section, Decoration committee, Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, Mrs. R. D. Angelica.

Fancy Work—Ways and Means committee, Mrs. Benjamin Holbrook, Mrs. Frank Ayars.

Candy—Philanthropic and Membership committees, Mrs. H. H. Spaulding.

Commissions—Mrs. E. S. McKee, Mrs. John Huntley.

The Goose—Mrs. George H. Rowe.

The hot lunch at noon was served under the direction of Mrs. L. W. Sinclair and Mrs. C. S. Archer and their committees.

Goop Dance Enjoyed

The "Goop dance" proved to be one of the mirth-provoking features of the bazaar. Those who took part in this stunt wore long skirts which covered their heads and hung to the floor, and over this they wore a coat. Through the sleeves of the coat were extension arms of wood, at the end of which were white gloves. The effect was of some headless creatures dancing.

Those who took part in this unique stunt, which was supervised by Mrs. Charles A. Parker, and which took place in the reception room of Masonic Temple, were Alice Ayars and Betty Hagood. The money from this stunt will be added to that taken in by the drama section booth, as it had been arranged by the members of that section.

KEMPER CAMPBELL BUYS TRACT FOR SUBDIVISION

Plans to Make Number of Attractive Improvements on Stoddard Place

Showing his faith in the future of Glendale, Attorney Kemper Campbell, of 1412 South Brand boulevard, has recently purchased a six and one-half acre tract on South Glendale avenue at the head of Los Feliz Road for immediate subdivision. The tract, which was formerly known as the Stoddard place, has 408 feet frontage on Glendale avenue and extends easterly 864 feet. Mr. Campbell plans for elaborate improvements which will make this subdivision one of the most attractive in Glendale. There is a profusion of pepper, palm, eucalyptus, cypress, acacia, and oak trees on the tract which readily lend themselves to beautiful landscaping. In the center extending from Glendale avenue is a park varying from sixty to eighty feet in width bordered by two rows of majestic palm trees. Within these rows of palms and following their course broad cement walks will be installed as well as a driveway on either side of the center which will be adorned with lawns and shrubs and otherwise beautified. Midway in this park stand two large feather palms considered to be unusually beautiful specimens of that attractive tree.

A beautiful swale runs through the property and this will be made into a sunken garden. Across the swale will be erected a rustic bridge which will carry the winding driveway back toward the hills. On either side of this drive are secluded spots ideally situated for little country homes. About two and one-half acres of the tract will be retained by Mr. Campbell for parks and grounds. Mr. Campbell expects to reserve a portion of this tract and to build thereon a permanent home.

Shows Faith in City

Men are now at work removing the house which stands upon the premises and in installing curbs, walks, parks and other improvements. This work is in charge of A. H. Glatt, of 620 Vine street, Glendale. Lots are being offered in this tract at very reasonable figures, it is announced.

"When I came to Glendale," said Mr. Campbell, "I did so because I thought it a quiet place to live. I had no intention of making any investments or of taking any interest whatever in local affairs. I soon found, however, that the Glendale spirit was contagious. Before I realized it I had acquired a number of lots on Brand boulevard and I recently purchased six and one-half acres at the head of Los Feliz Road. I had intended to improve the Brand boulevard frontage and live there permanently, but this frontage has now become business property and it would not be appropriate to hold back development by keeping it for residential purposes. I plan to build several houses on the new tract, including a permanent home for myself. Notwithstanding the tremendous strides already made by Glendale, I am strongly of the opinion that our city has just fairly started in its career of progress."

EDUCATION

Our pride in our nation received a rude shock when we learned that we were behind other leading nations of the world in the education of our youth. Ninety per cent of the children who enter school at age six must stop before completing the eighth grade to go to work. The boys and girls of today will become the fathers and mothers of tomorrow. In their keeping will be the destinies of our great nation. A government OF the people and BY the people can not long endure if the education of its children is neglected.

If you live and keep your health you'll give it to them, but if not—WHAT?

Guarantee them an education by securing a policy which will protect YOU if disabled and THEM if you die.

'Chasing Sally' Will Be Shown T. D. & L.

With its hundred of laughs and surprises, its quaint sentiment and intensity, W. B. Patton's newest comedy ten-strike "Chasing Sally" is proving to be an attraction of remarkable drawing powers. Thousands have already seen it and thousands will continue to see it during its tour this season.

The story is new and entirely away from anything ever before offered to the theatre-going public, which is unquestionably the reason it is breaking W. B. Patton's former established records for business. The character of Felix Fox in "Chasing Sally" as portrayed by Mr. Patton in his own inimitable way, is a type vastly different from anything in which this peculiar comedian has heretofore been seen.

The attraction will be seen here at the T. D. L. Theatre for one night only, Monday, Dec. 12.

THREE SAILORS DROWNED

DUBLIN, Dec. 8.—Three sailors were drowned when the steamship Cambria collided in the Irish channel with the schooner James Tyrel. The victims were all members of the schooner's crew. The damage to the Cambrai was slight. Among passengers on board the Cambrai was Mitchell Collins, commander in chief of the Irish republican army and a member of the Sinn Fein peace delegation.

COST OF FOOD IS HIGHER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—A decrease in the cost of food was shown in six cities and an increase in seven, for the month ending November 15, it was announced by the department of labor in a report following a survey of the thirteen cities. The maximum decrease was three per cent, shown in Washington, while the maximum increase was one per cent, shown in Rochester. Other cities reported are: Atlanta, Peoria and Springfield, Ill., a decrease of two per cent each; Little Rock, a decrease of one per cent; Philadelphia, increase of three-tenths of one per cent; Baltimore, Louisville and New York, increase of two-tenths of one per cent; Denver and Norfolk, no change. All the cities showed decreases for the annual period ending November 15.

EXPLOSIVES DISCOVERED

BOSTON, Dec. 8.—A black canvas bag containing a quantity of explosives was found on the steps of the Parkman bandstand in Boston Common.
